3.3 Supporting Those in Need

Voluntary Action North Lanarkshire is represented at a locally convened senior officer Steering Group that will support the resettlement of refugees from Syria within our North Lanarkshire communities. VANL's role involves identifying, co-ordinating and connecting community based organisations to the work of the wider partnership in welcoming and settling incoming groups of people.

This work will be predicated on the reported success of the previous Gateway Protection Programme (2007) which facilitated the resettlement of around 80 Congolese refugees within the Motherwell community.

3.4 Employer Supported Volunteering (ESV)

Employer Supported Volunteering (ESV) is all forms of volunteering that is carried out by employees supported by their employer. Many companies across the UK assist their employees who volunteer, or provide schemes which encourage them to volunteer. This may be formal, or informally agreed with line managers, and can form part of a larger Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) strategy.

Employer Supported Volunteering (ESV) can be given in various forms. Employers benefit from improved reputation with existing and potential employees, customers, partners and stakeholders through their employees' volunteering. ESV is a real opportunity to get involved by providing solutions to community issues.

Virgin Media staff have been helping voluntary organisations throughout North Lanarkshire to improve their premises and gardens. So far this year they have completed 28 tasks including a garden tidy at St James's Court, Coatbridge and painting the offices of Watch Us Grow in Cumbernauld. Staff are encouraged by Virgin Media to take a 'day off' from their normal duties and help in their community.

Voluntary organisations have been delighted to receive this assistance and staff enjoy their busman's holiday doing things they enjoy.

For more information about the ESV Project contact Jean Thomson on 01698 358866 or email jean.thomson@vanl.co.uk.

3.5. St Andrew's Day Tea Dance

People from across North Lanarkshire were treated to a heady brew of song, dance and socialising at a recent afternoon out with a difference.

On 30th of November, a St Andrew's Day Tea dance event took place in Motherwell Civic Centre Concert Hall, where 360 people from all over the area attended.

The day was organised by Voluntary Action North Lanarkshire and funded by the Integrated Care Fund via money provided by the locality consortium in North Lanarkshire, who also sold a portion of the tickets and provided transport to ensure that everyone who wanted to could participate.

Throughout the event, volunteer support was provided by students from New College Lanarkshire who gave up their time to ensure everyone in the hall had a helping hand or dance partner if they needed it.

The Tea Dance was opened by Alex Neil MSP who remarked how important such events were for older people living in North Lanarkshire, as they reduce social isolation and loneliness amongst older people.

The music for the day was provided by That Swing Sensation, who accompanied the dancing and they played a variety of musical genres, including a Scottish and Christmas sing-a-long.

The Kennedy Cupcakes showcased some dances and then led the audience in some group dances. In addition, Fool On, a mental health support group, provided some entertainment during the afternoon tea, with a repertoire of comedy and song. Positive feedback was received from those attending, including one lady who commented, "I wish I could still dance but I loved watching everyone else and being part of the atmosphere of the day."

Kenny Moffat, Chief Executive of VANL, said: "The main benefit for older people is that these events are a great way to meet people, stay connected and reduce the risk of loneliness and isolation.

"The Tea Dance has taken that to the next level and showcased the talent and drive among North Lanarkshire's communities, younger and golden generations alike."

Local people in Motherwell had the opportunity to have their voice heard as the Scottish Parliament came to the town for the day on Monday 9 November. During its visit, the Parliament was particularly keen to hear from young people, those who work with them and the communities they are part of.

Introduced by the Presiding Officer the Rt Hon Tricia Marwick MSP, Holyrood's Parliament Day Initiative takes the Parliament into communities around Scotland, encouraging local people to take an interest in and engage directly with the parliament and its work.
